Ani Sangey Lhamo was born in Amdo province of Tibet. She came to India with the hope of getting closer to His Holiness the Dalai Lama and hear His religious teachings.

She become a nun while in Tibet at a very early age but when she reached India she was found to be bit too old to seek fresh admission in any of the nunneries here.

But she never fails to attend every teachings of His Holiness in Dharamsala. She also attends classes on Buddhism.

She has some problems in her kidney and is on Tibetan medication as taking allopathic medicines regularly is beyond her financial capability. She also experiences joint problem quite frequently which could be because of treacherous journey she took to reach India.

All the members of her family have remained in Tibet and she has no contact with them. She has no known relative in India because of which there is no one here who could help her.

She is living in a rented house. She pays Rs 1500/month. She gets some amount of money from some nunnery project. On top of that she receives some money in the form of alms for nuns and monks during special puja at the temple. But this is very rare.

So help is needed for her so that she can meet her daily expenses, if not to cover her medical expenses as well.
