

CASE HISTORY

Name: Ani Kunga Wangmo (Nun)

Age: 62 yrs

Present Location: TIPA road,
Dharamsala

Brief report about self:

Ani Kunga Wangmo, a 62-year-old Tibetan nun, currently resides in a small rented house on TIPA Road, Dharamsala. Having arrived in India alone at age 30, she initially sought refuge at the Tibetan Reception Centre before spending three years in Bylakuppe, South India. Due to deteriorating health, she returned to Dharamsala in 2021.

Ani Kunga suffers from chronic joint complications resulting from a past accident and relies exclusively on traditional Tibetan medicine for pain management. Living entirely without family support, she faces extreme financial hardship. Her monthly income is limited to a meager Rs. 600 provided by the Department of Religion and Culture (CTA) and inconsistent religious alms. With a monthly house rent of Rs. 4,000, she is unable to afford basic necessities. We request your kind support in providing essential financial assistance to ensure her dignity, health, and well-being during her senior years.
